

LITIGATION BOUTIQUES HOT LIST

SPECIAL REPORT | At the 10 law firms spotlighted here, it's all about skill, not size. The lawyers at these litigation shops, all of which have fewer than 51 attorneys, are as clever at practicing on paper as they are at wooing a jury. Many of these lawyers have honed their craft at the biggest and best firms in the nation and have opted, once they've gained crucial work experience, for a small-firm career. We've highlighted the special strategies and creative approaches they used in 2013 to help set precedent, right wrongs and save the day for the client.

LEE TRAN & LIANG

An Auspicious Start Yielding Big Returns

Since four attorneys from Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan opened Lee Tran & Liang a decade ago, the firm has developed a solid reputation for wins in intellectual property, commercial disputes and employment law and has developed a roster of top clients including AT&T Inc., The Walt Disney Co. and Vizio Inc.

In 2013, its string of successes grew a lot longer. Describing itself as the largest litigation-only minority-owned law firm, the boutique is loading up on lawyers. It expects by March to have 24 attorneys, including the nine it hired in 2013 and three more joining this year.

Last year, Lee Tran managed to secure a dismissal — without payment — on behalf of energy giant Southern California Edison Co. Hydroelectric power equipment company SBIW Inc. had sued SoCal Edison for misappropriation of trade secrets in connection with the refurbishing of a SoCal Edison plant. SBIW, which alleged about $5 million in trade secrets damages, was the subcontractor on the project, and is also suing the general contractor General Electric Co. in a parallel case in New York. Lee Tran moved the case from New York to Los Angeles and secured dismissal of one of the claims. Following discovery, SBIW moved to dismiss the action.

William Frimel of Menlo Park, Calif.-based Heffernan Seubert & French opposed Lee Tran in the action. He said that K. Luan Tran, who represented SoCal Edison, was "focused on the key issues, particularly the ones where [Frimel's] case was not the strongest." Frimel added, "He did not make things difficult for the sake of making them difficult." He described Luan Tran as "personable."

Also last year, Lee Tran successfully defended a patent infringement action for Vizio over video-signaling technology and mounted another defense for AMC LLC in a wage-and-hour class action that is still pending.

Right now, Lee Tran is wrestling its biggest fish ever. The litigation is a battle waged by Frank Reginald "Reggie" Brown against Snapchat Inc., the Venice, Calif., company behind a popular app that lets users send text messages, pictures and videos that self-destruct seconds after being received. Snapchat's counsel? Quinn Emanuel.

Brown, Lee Tran's client, who claims he initially came up with the Snapchat idea, has sued for damages in excess of $1 billion. It's reminiscent of the Hollywood-celebrated 2008 legal battle between Cameron and Tyler Winklevoss and Facebook Inc. chief executive officer Mark Zuckerberg over the original idea behind the social-networking site.

"Obviously, in sheer size and potential amount, Snapchat put us on the map. It's the largest case in our firm's history," said Luan Tran, the lead attorney representing Brown. In that and other cases, the firm tries "to be very efficient with a targeted approach," he said. "We fight hard but fair for our clients. We don't file a lot of B.S. motions."

TRIAL TIPS

■ I learned this from my old boss John B. Quinn: From the moment you get a case, you've got to start thinking about every element of it in depth immediately, from discovery to jury instruction.

■ We believe in holding mock trials. You're risking malpractice without them.

■ Juries are smarter than you think they are, and if you're caught doing something you can't back up, that's going to negatively reflect on your client.

—K. LUAN TRAN

ABOUT US

AV-rated by Martindale-Hubbell, we started in 2003 as the first spin-off of trial powerhouse Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan, LLP. Our practice is devoted to trials, litigation and counseling in the areas of intellectual property, commercial disputes and employment. With over 35 attorneys across three offices in California (Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Orange County), we serve global clients with their most complex matters throughout the country.

LTL has recently been recognized for its outstanding client service and innovative legal work. We were named as One of the Best Firms at Developing and Implementing Alternative Fee Arrangements and as one of the 2016 Client Service A-Team (BTI Consulting); we were named as the 2015 Law Firm of the Year by the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association; we were selected to the 2014 National Law Journal Litigation Boutiques Hot List (one of ten firms nationally); and we received the 2013 Client Service Award from the California Minority Counsel Program. Our attorneys have been honored as among the “Top 20” in California, “Best Lawyers...in America” and “Super Lawyers” by leading legal publications and organizations. Clients and opposing counsel have referred to us as “the finest trial lawyers in the country,” “outstanding, tenacious, and cost effective,” and “creative.”

Our professional and academic credentials are second to none. Our attorneys practiced at leading international law firms and graduated from top law schools. We are privileged to serve successful entrepreneurs and businesses as well as recognized global industry leaders.

WHY US?

Winning Record.

We have tried more cases than most firms many times larger, and our winning record is the envy of our peers. We regularly – and successfully – litigate against the largest and best known law firms in the world. We have obtained multi-million dollar verdicts and settlements, and have achieved complete defense verdicts in bet-the-company cases.

Not Your Typical Lawyers.

We do not simply “handle” cases for the sake of going through the “motions.” We are think-out-of-the-box types, sophisticated, yet street-savvy. We do not waste time on unfruitful billing exercises, but focus on things that matter. We like to share the risks and rewards with our clients. But most of all, we focus on solving problems.

Cost-effective.

Our rate structure is much more cost-effective than those of comparable attorneys at the large firms. But more importantly, we employ the latest technological and case management tools available to level the playing field against any opponent. In appropriate matters, we also offer a number of alternative fee options including contingency, hybrids, caps, and fixed fees.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

We realize that intellectual property often represents the primary component of a company's value and reputation. As such, we provide practical advice to our clients on how best to protect their intellectual property, and how to defend against infringement assertions. When litigation is certain, we have successfully litigated numerous patent, trademark, trade dress, and copyright matters across the United States including California, Texas, Delaware, and New York.

We are proud to serve clients in diverse industries, including entertainment, computer technology, biotechnology, consumer electronics, internet, financial services, automotive, cosmetics, toy, and retail sectors. We have the technical background necessary to understand and effectively try cases involving complex technical issues (which often arise in intellectual property disputes). For example, our attorneys have served as general counsel of technology companies, worked as a chemical engineer prior to attending law school, and practiced as an Associate Solicitor at the United States Patent and Trademark Office. LTL's broad range of practical, hands-on experience provides our clients with an added advantage.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

COMMERCIAL LITIGATION

We provide aggressive and cost-efficient representation in complex commercial disputes at every level of the state and federal court systems. We have successfully litigated disputes involving breach of contract, business torts, construction, unfair competition, intellectual property, securities, and “bad faith” insurance disputes. We do not believe in a one-size fits all approach. Our attorneys firmly believe that understanding and appreciation of the client's business operation and goals are critical to effective legal representation. Client resources should not be expended simply for the sake of “building the case.” Litigation and, if necessary, trials are only necessary when extenuating business circumstances demand them or when business diplomacy fails.

Our lawyers also have extensive experience representing major corporations in both domestic and international arbitration proceedings. Our attorneys have participated and prevailed in several high-profile arbitration proceedings before the American Arbitration Association, the International Chamber of Commerce, the NYSE, the NASD, JAMS, the London Court of International Arbitration, and the Stockholm Chamber of Commerce.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

EMPLOYMENT LITIGATION

We have successfully handled matters involving wrongful termination, race, gender and disability discrimination, wage and hour law, sexual harassment, medical and disability leave, and compensation and termination. Whether it is a single-plaintiff matter or a purported class action, we resolve problems quickly and cost-effectively. While many law firms over-litigate claims, we use efficient tactics and strategies to obtain timely and favorable results. We have successfully represented employers and employees in administrative proceedings before state and federal agencies (including the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing, and the U.S. Department of Labor), state and federal courts, and all leading arbitration institutions (AAA, JAMS, et al.).

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

LTL has served Chrysler in several commercial disputes and their responsiveness, approach and efficiency are impressive.

- Chris Zammit / Senior Counsel, Chrysler Group

LTL has worked on many patent cases for VIZIO including several on-going matters. They are a dependable team and very cost effective.

- Jerry Huang / VP Legal Affairs, VIZIO

We engaged LTL on contract/commercial disputes, which they resolved successfully. But in particular, they did so with utmost efficiency—something that we know is a result of experience and creative lawyering—which we value tremendously at Live Nation."

- Richard Patti / SVP & Associate General Counsel, Live Nation

For a number of years, Southern California Edison often operated under the belief that the retention of the large, well-known law firms was necessary to receive top-tier legal representation. Having worked with [LTL] for almost five years, we now understand that smaller firms can provide equally effective representation.

- Leon Bass, Jr. / Director & Managing Counsel, Southern California Edison

The attorneys at [LTL] are top quality trial attorneys, able to provide big firm strategic advice and case handling with an eye towards efficiency and affordability. They recognize the business side of their legal matters, ensuring that a legal victory doesn't come at the expense of their client's economic interests.

- Mark Goldzweig / Assistant General Counsel, KIA Motors America

"We continue to expand and defend our IP all over the world. LTL's expertise is critical to our company's success...We consider them a crucial, trusted business partner that cost effectively does an exceptional job."

- Michael Don / SVP, Chief Financial Officer, Pinkberry

[LTL] is our go-to counsel for litigation and day-to-day advice. [LTL] understands and appreciates our business objectives whether in a litigation or business context. The firm's experienced trial team provides result-oriented services in a very cost-effective manner.
